WEAVER'S SILVER RECORD.

It is customary for the goldbug papers to belittle the services of General Weaver on the Silver question. They even go so far as to assert that he is the enemy of free coinage. An answer to these aspersions can be found in the Congressional Record for the year 1880, in volume 10, part 5, appendix, at pages 109-111. In this record it appears that General Weaver offered the following resolution in the house of representatives:

"Resolved, That in the judgment of this house, that portion of the interest-bearing debt of the United States which shall become redeemable in the year 1891, or prior thereto, being in amount $782,000,000, should not be refunded beyond the power of the government to call in said obligations and pay them, at any time, but should be paid as rapidly as possible, and according to contract. To enable the government to meet these obligations, the mints of the United States should be operated to their full capacity in the coinage of standard silver dollars, and such other coinage as the business interests of the country may require."

This resolution evoked considerable discussion, and when the vote was taken upon it, it stood yeas 85, nays 117. Not voting, 90. The only Republican in the house at the time who voted for this resolution was Mr. Belford of Colorado. Garfield voted against it, and every leader on the Republican side of the house. It will be remembered that an effort at that time was being made to refund the $782,000,000 into 20-40 bonds; in other words, to enslave the people for the next generation, and to change the conditions which then existed, namely, their payment in gold and silver, and ultimately secure their payment in gold.

From 1890 up to the present time General Weaver has pursued but one course, and that in favor of carrying out in all respects the laws under which the debts of the United States were contracted, and he stands today on the side of the free coinage of silver, just where he stood when he offered in congress the resolution above set forth.

It will be interesting to our Republican friends, no doubt, to look at the names of the men voting for and against this resolution. They are found in the appendix of the volume above referred to, at page 111. If they are honest and desire to do justice to the man who has labored for years to advance the interests of the people, they will pay to this Record at least a passing glance.

The Corbett Boom.

Political pots may simmer and boil To reduce the grease from Cleve the fat,
Protection may help the fruits of toil,
And Reid may talk through Harrison's hat,
Still to the ring the mob will come,
Forgetting each party as fast as they can;
Hats will come off and the blood will run,
For Corbett made "puddin'" of J. Sullivan.

A French engineer has invented a system of automatically stopping a train when an approaching one is on the same track. Levers, in front and behind a moving train, about a mile apart, are raised, putting a brake on any locomotive that comes within that distance.

Everyone can just as well commence to think now what is best to be done to make the District Fair a success.
